

Notice of Data Breach

Updated December 19, 2025

Adamson Ahdoot LLP publishes this notice of a data privacy event. This notice provides individuals with information about what happened, steps we have taken in response, and steps individuals may take should they feel it is appropriate.

What Happened? In November 2025, we learned that a third-party vendor with authorized access to certain cloud-hosted firm resources may have unintentionally permitted, directly or indirectly, unauthorized access to cloud-hosted firm documents. In response, we took steps to confirm this matter did not involve our computer network and reviewed information provided by the cloud provider. The provider advised that certain documents were accessed between October 27 and November 4, 2025. Upon receiving this information, we began a review of the potentially impacted documents to determine what information was contained in them, and to whom the information related. After identifying whose information was potentially involved, we mailed notices to individuals to let them know about this matter.

What Information Was Involved? For some individuals for whom contact information was not available, the types of information present in the potentially accessed documents varies by individual but can contain name and the following: driver's license or other government issued identification number and/or medical information.

What We Are Doing. We arranged for the party responsible for this matter to delete the accessed files. Further, we are notifying potentially affected individuals to ensure they are aware of this matter. Additionally, we are providing individuals guidance on how to protect their information, should they feel the need to do so. While no safeguards can fully prevent all cybersecurity matters, we are evaluating additional technical measures, as well as reviewing our vendor vetting and supervision practices, to reduce the risk of an issue like this reoccurring. We will continue to evaluate and update our policies and practices as appropriate.

What You Can Do. We encourage individuals to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing their account statements, if appropriate, and monitoring their free credit reports for suspicious activity and to detect errors. We also encourage individuals to review the below "Steps Individuals Can Take To Protect Personal Information" section. This section contains free resources that are available, including guidance for monitoring free credit reports, how to place a fraud alert or security freeze on credit files, and contact information for the consumer reporting agencies and Federal Trade Commission.

For More Information. If individuals have questions about this matter, we have an assistance line with agents ready to help answer questions. Please contact our toll-free assistance line at 1-833-974-3383, Monday through Friday, from 5:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Pacific Time (excluding U.S. holidays). ### STEPS INDIVIDUALS CAN TAKE TO PROTECT PERSONAL INFORMATION

Monitor Relevant Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended "fraud alert" on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:

Equifax—www.equifax.com; 1-888-298-0045; and P.O. Box 105788 Atlanta, GA 30348-5788

Experian—www.experian.com; 1-888-397-3742; and P.O. Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013

TransUnion—www.transunion.com; 1-833-799-5355; and P.O. Box 160, Woodlyn, PA 19094

For loved ones that may have recently passed, individuals may also place a “deceased – do not issue credit” flag on the loved one’s credit file. Only one consumer reporting bureau needs to be notified, and it will notify the other two major consumer reporting bureaus. Individuals may complete this process using the information provided by the credit bureaus at the below websites:

STEPS INDIVIDUALS CAN TAKE TO PROTECT THEIR MINOR DEPENDENTS’ PERSONAL INFORMATION

Typically, credit reporting agencies do not have a credit report in a minor’s name. To find out if your minor dependent has a credit report or to request a manual search for your minor dependent’s Social Security number, each credit bureau has its own process. To learn more about these processes or request these services, you may contact the credit bureaus by phone or in writing or you may visit or contact the below credit bureaus.

Equifax—www.equifax.com; 1-888-298-0045; and P.O. Box 105788 Atlanta, GA 30348-5788

Experian—www.experian.com; 1-888-397-3742; and P.O. Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013

TransUnion—www.transunion.com; 1-833-799-5355; and P.O. Box 160, Woodlyn, PA 19094

To request information about the existence of a credit file in your minor dependent’s name, search for your dependent’s Social Security number, place a security freeze on your dependent’s credit file, place a fraud alert on your dependent’s credit report (if one exists), or request a copy of your dependent’s credit report you may be required to provide some or all the following information:

Consumers have the right to file a police report if they ever experience identity theft or fraud. Please note that in order to file a report with law enforcement for identity theft, consumers will likely need to provide some proof that they have been a victim. Instances of known or suspected identity theft should also be reported to law enforcement. This notice has not been delayed by law enforcement.
